

UNLEARN YOU

TAHLIA DEEN

VERSE:

No bullets dodged, I got shot and lived to tell the tale
You tore my heart out, watched me bleed, then put me up for sale
Still hold the space inside my head
Will I ever love again?
How do I learn to unlearn you?

CHORUS:

Will she know how you like your coffee in the mornings?
Will she understand how to make your eggs just right?
Will her hand fit perfectly inside yours like mine does?
Will she know how to make you smile when the world is grey?

VERSE:

The knife inside my back, it's now become a part of me
A reminder of the times we had and what we used to be
What if you were the right person but just the wrong time?
What happens if I learn to unlearn you?

CHORUS:

Will she know how you like your tea in the evenings?
Will she understand how to make your day just right?
Will her head fit perfectly on your chest like mine does?
Will she know how to make you smile when the world is grey ey ey
The world is grey

BRIDGE:

It's so grey ey ey
Since you've been gone
Wish you would stay ay ay
Left me alone

CHORUS:

I still know how you like your coffee in the mornings
I still understand how to make your eggs just right
Still feel the warmth of your hand when it's locked inside mine
I still know to make you smile when the world is grey

No, I don't want to unlearn you
